Project Casa Pozzo Rodeli

Nestled between Istrian vineyards and olive groves, this stunning modern house is a true example of the harmony between clean lines and organic forms.

Project Casa Pozzo Rodeli

For the living room wall, we designed an elegant wallpaper that follows the contours of olive leaves with subtle structural perforations. The motif was chosen in harmony with the elements of the house and the surrounding landscape.

By selecting a neutral color palette, the final design focused on texture, resulting in a seamless harmony of the interior.

Luxury villa in Dubrovnik

The rope motif is designed with a special emphasis on materiality and spatial cohesion, tailored to the contemporary architecture of the home that merges traditional elements with a luxurious interior. The focus remains on tactile texture, and the same design is consistently continued through the sleeping area and the main entrance, creating a thoughtful aesthetic connection between different functional zones of the space.

San Rocco: Heritage Hotel & Restaurant

A specially designed paintable wallpaper. The two olive trees symbolize the two daughters of the owner family of Hotel San Rocco. The paintable wallpaper allows for the manual application of color, achieving an artisanal look, where the ornaments can be highlighted with different accents.

In this case, the combination of white and gold details on a brown background creates a traditional, earthy, and organic appearance that celebrates the heritage of Hotel San Rocco. As the owners also produce olive oil, the gold color in the design symbolically represents the richness of olive oil.

Custom design - Tide Lines

The vision of this project was created in collaboration with our colleagues from interior architecture & design studio, Studio Nacrt.

The integration of a marine theme was a strategic design decision, bringing a sense of nature and the calmness of the sea into the hotel interior. The color palette remained largely neutral so that the dynamic movement of the waves could be expressed through texture.

The result is an interior that evokes a feeling of serenity and a strong connection with the surrounding environment.
